Kevin Y. Kim is currently acting assistant professor of history and global studies at the University of Washington Bothell, and a faculty fellow at Harvard University’s Charles Warren Center for Studies in American History. A former American Historical Association’s J. Franklin Jameson Fellow at the Library of Congress’s John W. Kluge Center, Kim’s work has received recognition and support from the Society of American Historians, NYU’s Center for the United States and the Cold War, the Society for Historians of American Foreign Relations, and the Walter H. Shorenstein Asia-Pacific Research Center. Kim’s work on public and international affairs has appeared in Pacific Historical Review, Diplomatic History, The Nation, The Progressive, The Village Voice, and Far Eastern Economic Review.